Welcome to Interactions Forum!!

Pune based Interactions Forum (IF) is established formally in the year 2010 with the objective to provide an integrated platform for intra-disciplinary and interdisciplinary research in various disciplines and to provide free access to the knowledge produced through this research. Today's formal organization was preceded by an informal group of young research scholars who were very enthusiastic, besides their own fields of research, about the new and ongoing research in various branches of the knowledge tree.

At present we are focusing on providing the researchers a space to publish their research. We, in future, intend to organize informal and formal seminars and conferences which would deal with the important themes in intra-disciplinary and interdisciplinary research across the various streams of knowledge.
